“I couldn’t have had better treatment!”

Nancy Jackson is a resident of Guysville, Ohio, and her experience started with a word of caution — a nurse practitioner associated with Wayne Myles, DO, in the Albany Medical Clinic strongly urged Nancy to have a mammogram as part of an overall wellness program.

Although Nancy was reluctant, her husband also encouraged her.

“I did not believe I needed a mammogram at my age. I did not want to have one but I am so glad I did! Kelly Shears made me feel very comfortable during my screening at O’Bleness’ imaging center in the Castrop Center.”

Nancy’s mammogram at O’Bleness revealed three suspicious masses. A stereotactic biopsy performed by John Green, DO, at the Athens Surgery Center confirmed the presence of stage I breast cancer.

Following a partial mastectomy and sentinel node biopsy, Nancy completed radiation therapy at the Athens Cancer Center.

“I couldn’t have had better treatment from everyone associated with O’Bleness at the Albany Medical Clinic, the hospital’s imaging center, the Athens Surgery Center and the Athens Cancer Center.”

Thanks to a few persuasive words of encouragement, Nancy gets to have the last word on a potentially life-threatening condition — “I wouldn’t want to go anywhere else!”
